Paul Davis donates 500 copies of the company's emergency reference guides to the American Red Cross of Upstate South Carolina

- Donation to be presented on Sept. 13 at Red Cross offices in Greenville -

Greer, SC – Sept. 2, 2011 - Paul Davis Restoration and Remodeling of the Upstate owners Dan Driscoll and Gordon McPhee, announced today that their office has donated 500 copies of the company's emergency reference guide booklets to the American Red Cross of Upstate South Carolina. The Red Cross chapter will offer the booklets to fire victims with advice on the steps to take in the aftermath of a fire. The Red Cross plans to include these booklets in their comfort kits that are distributed to fire victims.

The information includes helpful tips about securing a residential or commercial property and site; fire and smoke damage repairs; emergency board-ups; roof tarps; water extraction; water and fire damage restoration and repairs; deodorizing surfaces, and structural stabilization. The booklet also covers do's and don'ts, and consumer rights after a fire, among others.

On Tuesday, September 13 at 4 pm, the Paul Davis team will deliver the materials to the Red Cross during the organization's Board of Directors meeting along with a brief presentation about the importance of fire safety and disaster response after a fire. The presentation will be held at 940 Grove Road in Greenville.

Paul Davis Restoration is helping the Red Cross as part of the Paul Davis Restoring America program —an annual community service initiative to help local residents. The company has donated the booklets as a thank you to the American Red Cross of Upstate South Carolina which was founded in 1917 and serves local residents with a mission of providing relief to victims of disaster and helping people prevent, prepare for, and respond to emergencies.
