Paul Davis Emergency Services owner named Ambassador of the Year for Camden County Chamber of Commerce

St. Marys/Kingsland, GA – July 14, 2011 – Rana Killough, owner of Paul Davis Emergency Services in Camden County, GA, was recently named as the Ambassador of the Year for the Camden County Chamber of Commerce. Killough will assist the Chamber as a member representative at business events and will promote and support the organization's mission to develop economic growth and prosperity and enhance the business community and the quality of business life in Camden County.

Killough and Paul Drayton, her husband and business partner, own the local Paul Davis office and specialize in 24-hour rapid emergency mitigation services including board-ups, water and fire response, and mold removal in Camden, Charlton, and Ware counties, and parts of Brantley County.

“We are continuing our commitment to support the business community and provide a needed service in Camden County,” said Killough. “The honor of serving as Ambassador for the Chamber is a worthy cause to promote businesses in the area and to develop our company awareness,” she said.

Paul Davis Emergency Services provides emergency response to residential and commercial property catastrophes that are caused by water, mold, storms, and other forms of property damage. Killough and Drayton have more than eight years in the emergency services and water damage restoration industry. They are certified from The Institute of Inspection, Cleaning and Restoration Certification (IICRC).
