Paul Davis Emergency Services recently held open house, ribbon cutting and fundraiser for Wichita Habitat for Humanity

Wichita, KS – Dec. 20, 2011 – Jill Skaggs and Jeff Keeny, owners of Paul Davis Emergency Services of Wichita, KS, recently held an open house and ribbon cutting event in honor of their new business. The Paul Davis office along with the Wichita Metro Chamber of Commerce hosted the occasion on December 15 at local businessman Ed Azar's PODS moving and storage company in Park City, KS.

At the event, Paul Davis displayed exhibits along with a company truck and equipment. Attendees were invited to bring along a paint brush to be donated to the Wichita Habitat for Humanity along with cash donations. Jill Skaggs shared how her mother who is now deceased, took her Dad on "vacations" around the U.S. to build homes for Habitat for Humanity. Jill's father Herschel Skaggs attended the opening event along with Ann Fox, Executive Director of Habitat for Humanity. The two talked about the renowned non-profit organization and how it has helped many people realize the dream of owning their own home.

The Paul Davis office owners also demonstrated the emergency services equipment and discussed the company's methods of Applied Structural Drying in response to water damage losses in a residence or commercial business. More than 50 attendees enjoyed a holiday Christmas tree and a formal ribbon cutting with Skaggs and Keeny, their niece Samantha Skaggs, and Jane Skaggs, their daughter. Holiday treats were shared with a warm cup of cider and prizes were presented.

"We are so thankful to those who shared the opening event with us and who will also be supporting our business," said Jill Skaggs. "We appreciate Ed Azar with PODS for allowing us to have our open house at his beautiful facility," she said.
